

TCR

3.39 / FALL 2019

5

Editor's Note

7

Jónína Kirton

Everything is Waiting

12

Junie Désil

Two Poems

22

Akem

Collaboration, or Cooperation with the Enemy

25

Darius Alexander Ghaderi Barrera

Se murió de amor

30

Hana Amani

Scheherazade's Dream

36

Chris Turnbull

Suspended Collaboration

47

Shanzhai Lyric

Endless Garment (2015–ongoing)

57

Hari Alluri, Junie Désil, Mercedes Eng, & Cecily Nicholson

Return to Ground

62

ReMatriate Collective

qa? yəx^w – water honours us:
womxn and waterways

68

Genevieve Robertson

Carbon Study: Walking in the Dark

73

Jami Macarty & Jacqueline Turner

Inexorably Tangled

80

Sinead Grewcock

Water—Fear Talks

82

Emily Carr

from The Stork Rides Shotgun: statistically significant poems

88

G. Maria Hindmarch

Kitsilano (1963-69)

93

Deanna Fong, Erin Moure,

Karis Shearer, & Al Filreis

In conversation: A Corner Is Never a Firm Divide

99

Kevin Killian's Vancouver Friends

The Afterparty: Can't get you out of our heads

104

see-to-see

Elee Kraljii Gardiner

Review of Chantal Gibson,
How She Read (Caitlin Press, 2019)

Danielle LaFrance

Review of Dina González Mascaró's vessels are never empty and Megan Hepburn's Passing Through Smoke
(Franc Gallery and CSA Space, Vancouver, 2019)

Jónína Kirton

Review of the Indigenous Brilliance Series:
Creating Safe Spaces for Co-Creation

110

Contributors

Cover Image:

Hana Amani, The Birth of Bilqis, 2019
Intaglio and gold paint on ivory Fabriano paper 30 x 37 inches